

RISK DISCLOSURE NOTICE

Margin Trading

Margin trading is leveraged trading that allows “gearing” which means that you can place a large trade by only putting up a small amount of money as margin. If the price moves in your favor you can greatly increase your results. However even a small movement in price against you can lead to substantial losses and you may be required to deposit additional margin with us immediately to keep these trades open. You are liable for this and for any losses that may occur if your positions are closed. All financial products traded on margin carry a high degree of risk to your capital. They are not suited to all investors. Please ensure that you fully understand the risks involved and seek independent advice if necessary.

You should ensure that you have sufficient resources available to you to cover any adverse movement in the price of the margined product, any margin requirement or loss.

Additional Deposits

If your margin requirement is not satisfied, you will either need to deposit more funds with InbaseTrader in order to maintain the position or reduce the position, to reduce your margin requirement.

If one of these options is not adopted, or the position closed, then your trade may be compulsory closed at a loss.

Currency Risk

Margined trades are based on the price movement of a product. They settle based on the difference between the opening price and the closing price of the trade. They can settle in a currency other than your base currency and therefore your profit or loss could be liable to foreign exchange fluctuations.

Weekend and Holiday Risk

Various situations over a weekend (market opening and closing times can be found on our website) or during a holiday when the financial markets generally close for trading may cause the markets to open at a significantly different price from where they closed.

InbaseTrader’ customers will not be able to use the InbaseTrader trading system to place or change orders over the weekend, on market holidays or and at other times when the relevant markets are generally closed. There is a substantial risk that non- guaranteed stop- loss orders left to protect open positions held during these periods will be executed at levels significantly worse than their specified price.

Charges and Commissions

Before you begin to trade, you should obtain from us details of all commissions and other charges for which you will be liable. Such charges may affect your net profit or loss.

No Advice

We do not provide investment advice relating to investments or possible transactions in investments. We are permitted to provide factual market information and information about transaction procedures, potential risks involved and how those risks may be minimized, but any decision made must be yours.

General

If you are in any doubt whatsoever about any aspect of the risks involved in Foreign Exchange, Contracts for Difference or Derivatives then we recommend that you seek independent professional help or advice before continuing.

Margin trading is not necessarily designed to replace existing or traditional methods of investing and is therefore not suited to everyone.